Fair Shake
Environmental Legal Services

Incorporated geo-targeting into our campaign, seen through providing updates on COVID-19 for our audience

Our Google Ads campaign achieved the marketing goals and mission by providing their content like blog posts as well as introducing new search strategies that can be used after our campaign

Search Recommendations

Fair Shake
Environmental Legal Services

Current Event Keywords

Timely search queries help maintain high CTR due to high relevancy (ie court closures, pa court updates).

Responsive Search Ads

Including at least one responsive search ad per ad group allows for Google to predict what users are searching for.

Create COVID19 Campaign

Include ad groups for court updates and EPA updates--timely and highly relevant will help CTR.

Call Extensions

Through our search campaign, we have found call extensions are the way to go in terms of getting people to click and interact with ads.

Marketing Recommendations

Fair Shake
Environmental Legal Services

Keep up with Current Events

Providing information about current events makes users see your brand as a trusted source.

COVID19

Make sure to stay on top of what is happening around COVID19 and how it is affecting environmental advocacy. The timeliness of this issue will generate more clicks.

Blogs

Keep up with blogs and make sure the search campaign is complementary to blog content. This will lead users to your page to educate themselves.

Social Media

Having a marketing strategy that hits multiple mediums is critical for a successful campaign. Using some of your social media posts to influence your keyword implementation can help generate ideas based on what users are already talking about on social.

Learning Objectives & Outcomes

Our primary goal for this campaign was to learn as much as possible about SEM. Furthermore, we were able to work with a real client, a first for many, as well as learning about pro bono environmental legal services.

Client Dynamic

While working with Fair Shake, we were able to identify various areas of their website that could have been improved. By maintaining a consistent line of communication with the marketing director, we were able to bring to life the necessary optimizations.

Group Dynamics

At first, our group was able to meet regularly three times a week. However, with the implications of the the COVID-19 pandemic, our team had to adjust by having online meetings, twice a week individually, and once with our instructor. All while maintaining a weekly line of contact with the client.
